U-M SOLAR CAR TEAM

The University of Michigan Solar Car Team is one of the biggest student projects on campus and our goal is to design, finance, build and race the best solar powered vehicle possible and to enter the best Team into two different solar car races. Our current project vehicle, Infinium, began in the fall of 2007 and will be finished by the fall of 2009. We will race across the continent of Australia in October of 2009 and also across the US into Canada in July of 2010.

Every single solar cell gives Infinium more power and brings the team closer to winning the next championship. By purchasing a solar cell for Infinium's solar array, you will not only be directly contributing to the success of our team, but you will also be expressing your commitment to education and interest in meeting environmental objectives in our society. We hope that you will buy a solar cell and help the UM Solar Car Team rise above the competition.
